The diagram consists of a solid black line and a dashed black line. The solid line starts at the top left, curves slightly upwards to the right, then drops vertically to the bottom right, and finally curves slightly downwards to the left. The dashed line starts at the top left, curves slightly downwards to the right, then drops vertically to the bottom right, and finally curves slightly downwards to the left. The word "lateral" is written in a simple, sans-serif font in the center-right area of the diagram.
